Bay sandbeach project may receive approval

BY MARY G. SEILEY
A key Corps of Engineers official said Wednesday he sees no major issues to resolve before granting the city a permit to renourish its beachfront. Elements of time and sand, however, may undermine the Bay St. Louis project before it gets off the ground. But city officials say even if they miss this chance to plug into the county's renourishment program, another way will be found to protect the endangered seawall. City officials are working at a fever pitch to solidify its program and grab the coattails of the T.L. James Co., before it finishes its contract with the county and leaves town. The contractor probably will have reached the end of the county project, at Dane Street, by this weekend. City officials are negotiating with the firm on costs of the project and a potential short delay in getting it started. John Winn, supervisory ecologist for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Wednesday stopped just short of saying the city's permit is assured. But Winn said he'd already started the necessary paperwork for the permit decision which is to come May 4. If the permit is denied, he noted, obviously that could be done via the telephone without paperwork. The city's project already has been cleared by the state Bureau of Marine Resources. Winn made his comments at a public hearing that offered details on the proposed city tie-in to the county's program.

Some beach front property owners aired concerns about a lack of parking, and fears that beach-goers would tie up valuable commercial parking slots. There were other questions about restroom facilities that would be needed for the new beach visitors, and about maintenance of the beach after it's constructed. Winn said none of those concerns have bearing on the question of whether the Corps and other federal agencies will allow the renourishment project -- its primary purpose is to protect the seawall from further degradation, there by protecting Beach Boulevard from collapse. Les Fillingame, city Planning Director, said the city is working on a plan to build a parking lot and restrooms. "We're going to build a parking lot and restrooms. We're going to build a parking lot and restrooms. We're going to build a parking lot and restrooms."

North Bay, Waveland pre-registration for kindergarten to be held on May 10

The Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District announced that North Bay and Waveland Elementary Schools will hold Kindergarten pre-registration for the 1994-95 school term Tuesday, May 10 in each school library between the hours of 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. Students who reside within the Bay St. Louis-Waveland School District and plan to enter Kindergarten at North Bay or Waveland Elementary School are eligible to pre-register. A certified copy of the child's birth certificate, a certificate of compliance (blue slip) from the health department or family physician, social security number and two current proof of residence (driver's license, utility bills, apartment or home lease, mortgage documents or property deed, homestead exemption application form, voter precinct identification, automobile registration or affidavit of residency) are required. Mississippi law mandates that children who are to enter Kindergarten must attain the age of five on or before Sept. 1, 1994. District residents to the west of Washington Street, including

Depot purchase delayed

BY MARY G. SEILEY
It may be late May before the city of Bay St. Louis knows if it can buy the CSX depot. Although the purchase has been in the works about a year, a recent survey of the property found that about one foot of the facade lies within 50 feet of the railroad tracks. The railroad company has offered the city a "perpetual easement" on that part of the 1928 building, but refuses to sell it outright to the city. That arrangement has to be reviewed by federal transportation officials, who have given the city a $580,000 grant to restore the two-story historic structure to its original state. The city doesn't want to close on the purchase deal until it knows for sure that the grant for restoration is intact. Mike Cuevas, who's consulting firm is expected to manage the project, said Thursday she expects word on the funding issue by no later than the end of May. The city has agreed to buy the depot property for $86,000. After restoration, it will be used as a transportation hub, and civic activity center. Officials hope the redevelopment will spur other renewal projects in the area. As part of the deal with CSX the city has agreed to close several crossings of the CSX tracks: at Agnes, Ballentine, Citizen and St. Charles Streets. The city also promised to close one additional grade crossing, to be determined later.

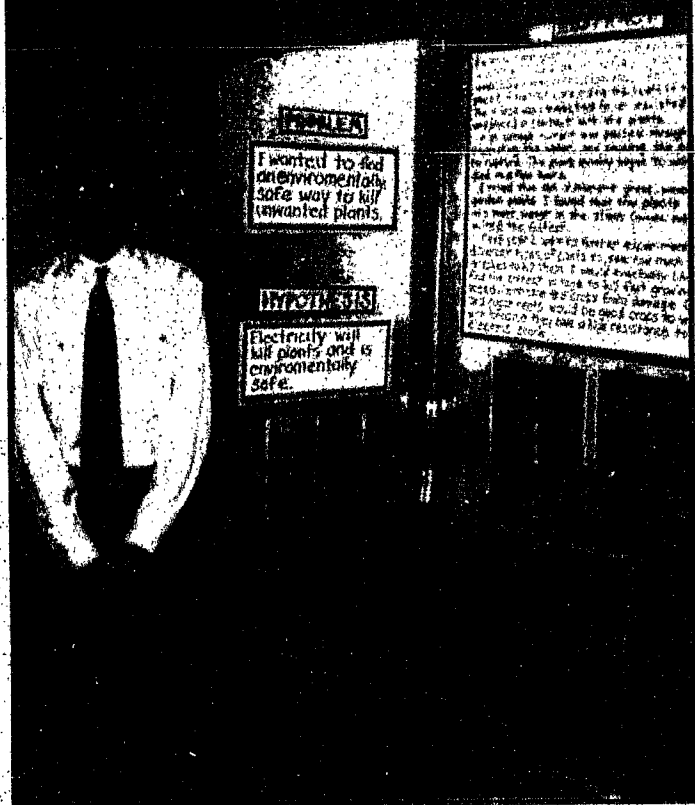

Flag raising

Science fair winners

Angela Baldree and Seth Johnson recently competed in the state competition of the Mississippi Science and Engineering Fair at Jackson State University in Jackson. The two are eighth grade students at Bay Jr. High School. They earned the opportunity to compete in the state contest by placing first in their school and Regional Science Fair competition. Johnson developed a high powered project that proved high voltage could be used to kill weeds. Baldree developed math formulas for predicting the proportional properties of the human body. Additional information and photos of science fair winners will be published in upcoming issues of this newspaper.

Bids accepted on overlay for Industrial Park road

BY MARY G. SEILEY
Hancock County officials accepted a $438,037 bid Tuesday to improve a 2.8-mile stretch of Lower Bay Road. The bid by Hugh Stockton was the lowest of three offers on upgrading the route, between Highway 90 and Port Bienville Industrial Park. The work will be financed with state and federal aid. Officials plan to increase the load-bearing capacity of the route, which is deteriorating from heavy truck traffic. The project will include widening the route slightly, repaving and striping it, and installing guard rails and new signs. In other action Tuesday, the board agreed to resurface the walking track at Hancock Memorial Hospital. Board President Michael Ladner said the city of Bay St. Louis had agreed to do the work, but did not. "We need to go ahead and do it ourselves and get it done," Ladner said, noting the track has grass growing through it and is cracking in some areas. Woody Stieffel of the Bay St. Louis Public Works Department said Wednesday the project had been discussed and probably would have been included in the city's annual resurfacing contract this summer. In other matters, the board agreed to replace some $4,400 worth of broken -- or missing -- tables and chairs for the Hancock County Civic Center. Chancery Clerk Michael Necaise said some of the chairs "seemed to have walked off" from the county's inventory.

The county traditionally lends tables and chairs to area governments for special functions. Officials say the inventory has been shrinking because, apparently, some of the borrowers haven't been returning some of the tables and chairs. County officials say they plan

Theft of Magnolia causes trip to jail

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
A Metairie resident was apprehended last Sunday and charged with stealing state property. Freddie C. Brown, 34, 8825 Nevada St., Metairie, La., was arrested at the intersection of Highways 607 and 90 at approximately 4:30 p.m. for the removal of a magnolia tree alongside Highway 607, Delbert Seay, Hancock County Criminal investigator said. Brown was arrested by Hancock Deputy Rita Watson-Blaise. Brown was taken to the Hancock Criminal Justice Facility, and bond was set at $500. Seay, who along with Watson-Blaise is handling the investigation, said Brown was observed placing the magnolia tree in the truck of his vehicle and reported it to the sheriff's office. Brown who is out on bond, is scheduled for a hearing on May 10 in Hancock County Justice Court. The magnolia trees have been planted along Mississippi's highways as part of a beautification project.

ning and Zoning Commission chairman, said early cessation of the county's project substantially narrowed the window of opportunity for the city to piggyback it with its own project. BMR cut some 22 percent off the county's southernmost portion of the project, to protect submerged seagrasses.

BMR's Gary Cuevas said Wednesday no such sea grasses have been found in the stretch the city wants to renourish, however.

Plans call for pumping a 200-foot-wide strand in an area between Washington Street and the Highway 90 bridge. The project actually would start around Bookter Street, to skip a large marsh area just north of Washington.

From Bookter, the beach-front would extend to Main Street, where marshes again occur. It would skip that small segment of marsh, and resume at State Street, running north to the end of the sea wall at Bayview Court. Private property owners between Bayview and the bridge presumably would finance the renourishment in front of their property.

Fillingame and city council members stressed the city's intention of providing additional parking and restroom facilities downtown. Fillingame said several potential "spinoff" projects are being explored.

Two downtown merchants criticized the administration for not having provided more parking long before now.

The top priority, said Fillingame, is protecting the seawall -- including those segments which won't be included in the renourishment program. Like the county, the city is beginning to look at alternative ways to protect the seawall from erosion, including bulkheading, or a new type of sand-filled pipe barrier.

Speakers at Wednesday's hearing included Brother Paul Montero, president of St. Stanislaus -- he wanted to dispell rumors that the school's officials disapprove the project. In fact, the school is fully behind the renourishment program, he said.

"I want to make it very clear that we support the project totally because of the protection of the seawall," Montero said. He added the school's officials are aware of potential problems the renourishment could bring, including invasion of the private school's parking lot by beach-goers.

But the concerns, he said, don't outweigh the need to protect the seawall.

Project engineer William Mitchell said the 5,000-foot renourishment section would require some 175,000 cubic yards of sand -- questions remain whether the existing borrow pit has that much left in it. Mitchell is filing a permit modification request immediately, in hopes the city can dig deeper into the middle of the borrow pit than the existing permit allows.

If that fails, officials plan to look for other nearby sand sources to complete the city project. And city officials say they may have to bid the renourishment project from scratch, if the James Co. connection fails.

Mitchell said while there are no sections of Beach Boulevard in imminent danger of collapse, there are areas where the deteriorated seawall has allowed substantial undermining of the road.

In response to questions from the audience, city officials said the newly pumped beach would be maintained by the county, and need for additional police patrolling would be addressed.

Officials on hand at the session included Board of Supervisors President Michael Ladner, Mayor Eddie Favre, and city council members James Thriffling, Charles Scianna, James Rutherford and Tad Black.

Winn said the permit comment period would remain open through May 3.

BREWER'S WORLD

By Jimmie Brewer

Ticked off

Good morning, all you law-abiding, fun-loving, kind-hearted Southerners. Welcome to another gorgeous, fun-filled day on the Gulf Coast.

Holy Toledo, what is going on in our nice, quiet and friendly resort community? Did I actually read of two shootings recently in our area?

I don't now where in heck those pistol-packing, low-life punks come from, but I can tell you one thing; if they ever, and I mean EVER, take a shot at my family or friends, I'll go bananas!

It makes me want to just beebop over to Keesler Air Force Base, requisition one of those F-16 fighter jets and send one of those scum-seaking missiles right through their rat-infested bedroom windows.

You lower-than-a-snake's-belly dudes better wake up and get a life. What in the world is wrong with you guys? Shouldn't you young juveniles be out on the beach checking out the chicks in the latest swimwear?

Don't guns and violence scare the heebie-jeebies out of you? Surely beating somebody up or shooting somebody with a real gun can't be any fun.

If you got problems you can't deal with and they're making you a violent person, I've got a novel idea -- GET HELP.

And don't give me that meadow muffs you don't know where to get help. It's out there. Help IS available.

Doesn't taking a midnight stroll on the beach with a babe, or sucking the heads off crawfish with some buddies sound better than looking at the ceiling of a jail cell or coffin?

Violent people make me want to throw up up that taco casserole I had the other night, which by the way was delicious.

All right, on to another subject.

Wowee, you all should've seen those lovely ladies from Diamondhead perform to a standing room-only crowd last Saturday.

They were nothing short of magnificent. These wild "Diamondhead Dames" in those colorful costumes had as much fun acting as the standing room-only audience had watching. They were so animated. And guess what?

They did it so we could have a children's shelter here in the Bay. Thank you, Terrie Downie, Ann Williamson and the entire cast.

Our Hancock County Board of Supervisors, members of the Sand Beach Advisory Committee and the public are still scratching their heads on the dropping of a 1.3-mile section of beach renourishment.

This was after all permits, requirements, financing, contracting and field studies were completed and everything was on a go.

Then the 'bomb' comes from the Bureau of Marine Resources. The BMR 'bomb' then received support from the U.S. Corps of Engineers, U.S. Fisheries and Wildlife Service, Environmental Protection Agency (EPA), National Marine Fisheries Service and the Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality.

All we can gather as the reason for shortening the project is a few clumps of submerged grasses that are neither endangered nor protected.

Is this really a concern about our environment, or is it about power and control?

These grasses apparently have been around a long time, and many who use the areas can verify they did not just 'pop up' at last minute.

It is estimated that only 4% of the grass area would have been involved in the beach renourishment.

A compromise was thought to have been reached, and our Hancock County Board of Supervisors even agreed to offer up to a $100,000 mitigation project to replant the grass.

The federal officials would not accept the compromise unless the supervisors would have agreed to an unlimited number of dollars for mitigation.

It appears the federal officials wanted to place a noose around the neck of our supervisors. The supervisors could not do anything but reject the offer.

The big concern to county officials is what is going to happen in the areas where there will be no sand protection.

They already have an idea, that being the road will eventually collapse.

The county cannot afford to replace the seawall without a lot of financial help. We wonder if the above named agencies will supply these monies.

Now we ask the question, what ever happened to balance?

Bureaucratic red tape, red tape, red tape, and we can continue to repeat it, bureaucratic red tape.

We are for the environment, but there comes a time when common sense should be used, too.

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

I am glad to see the county has repaired the pot hole in the Walking Track.

Never have I heard so many people complain about a pot hole.

It is good to say there is still a very large number of people who do use the walking track on a regular basis.

I have been told the track will receive a facelift of resurfacing soon.

I was glad to see the remains of the oak tree on Beach Boulevard being carefully taken down in large sections by members of the Naval Construction Battalion in Gulfport.

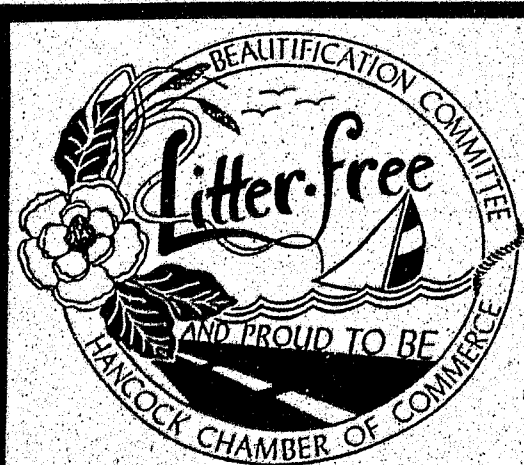

If the tree could have talked, it could have told many stories. Who knows, it is very possible it may have been a sapling when the Bay of St. Louis was discovered in 1699.

I know it had weathered many hurricanes, two severe ones in my lifetime.

The tree had witnessed millions of vehicles pass down Beach Boulevard and also crossing the Bay only a few feet from it.

The remains are to be used in Boston, Mass., for refurbishment on the U.S.S. Constitution.

So you can see, it will be put to good use and also will still be by water, as it was throughout its life.

Loyalty Day needs to be remembered

May 1 is Loyalty Day, and as such it is a day filled with activities designed to involve the community in an overt display of loyalty to flag and country. Therefore, every loyal citizen should eagerly participate in the festivities in an effort to make this Loyalty Day the best observance ever held.

Loyalty Day has become a tradition with the Veterans of Foreign Wars. With the passage of Public Law 85-529 on July 18, 1958, the VFW won a long, hard battle to have Loyalty Day approved by Congress. However, this day does not belong to the VFW alone, it belongs to all Americans.

Most Americans have heard the quote, "Ask not what your country can for you — ask what you can do for your country." This is a sound principle to live by in a country such as ours, where the government is elected by the people and where the public is expected to participate in the governing process.

In these times of global political turbulence, Americans should pause and ask themselves, "What have we done, and what are we doing now to demonstrate to the world just how we feel about our country?" After all, ours is a country that has held high the beacon of liberty and asked nothing of the other nations except that they send to her, in the words of Emma Lazarus emblazoned on the Statue of Liberty, their "huddled masses yearning to breathe free." Ours is a country that has taken the abstract ideal of "Freedom and Justice for All" and made it into a way of life.

We must pledge ourselves to maintain a free society in which loyalty is always encouraged and respected. For without loyalty to United States, the world's best hope for a future blessed with freedom, cannot long survive. And, if we fail, the flame of freedom will diminish and fade forever. So, join in and become a part of the Loyalty Day celebrations. Let the world know that Americans are behind their country and that America, because of this, is still a strong, vibrant nation.

Clermont property owner wants to know what's going on

To the Editor:

As a property owner in Clermont Harbor, let me see if I understand correctly what's going on.

Two of the best projects to ever involve Clermont Harbor, the proposed Galaxy Casino and the addition of a 200-foot wide continuous Florida-style beach, are being shut down to protect seaweed?

This particular type of seaweed, according to Echo stories, is not endangered, not rare and not protected by law. But, the story goes, it is a vital part of the food chain!

Food chain for what? Ask anyone you see trying to fish or crab along the seawall what kind of luck they are having, and the story is mostly the same — no luck, or not much.

Years ago you could fill hamper with crabs and ice chests with reds and specks right on the seawall. Now, commercial fishing boats blot out the horizon day after day, using legal and illegal methods to haul in anything that moves in the water from surface to sand bottom. These days fish, crabs and shrimp hardly have a chance in hell to get closer than a mile from the shore.

Folks, "there ain't much there" for the seaweed to feed. On the other hand, the dollars Galaxy and the improved beaches will bring in will feed a lot of Mississippi job-endangered, land-dwelling human beings.

Where are your priorities? Do the right thing. Dis ain't Looziana!

Sincerely,
Bob Walker
Metairie, La.

FROM THE SENATE

By Senator
Trent Lott

Who's in charge?

What happens when a British general, a Japanese diplomat and an Egyptian civil servant get together? The answer: U.S. planes bomb Bosnia.

This may sound like a bad joke, but the frightening truth is that is exactly what happened.

Bosnia is a perfect example of how our foreign policy has gotten out of control. Who is in charge of our defense and foreign policy position in Bosnia? It is not clear.

When U.S. fighter jets are flying over Bosnia, the decision to use them in that conflict is not up to the U.S. The first air attack against Serbian targets came as a result of a Japanese diplomat talking to an Egyptian civil servant working for the United Nations, dealing with a British general.

Bottom line: the U.N. ordered air strikes by U.S. planes and notified President Clinton of that fact. I really am uncomfortable with U.S. fighter planes being the designated hitter for the U.N., especially when the entire operation is devoid of any clear and coherent policy.

I oppose the idea of our troops — our men and women — and our equipment being under the control of the U.N. I just do not believe the U.N. is set up for that sort of thing. As syndicated columnist Paul Greenberg puts it, "Armies are for war, not subtle diplomacy."

For the life of me I do not see that the United States has a vital national security interest in Bosnia. We have a humanitarian interest as a result of the slaughter going on in the civil war being waged by the Serbs and, therefore, a compelling reason to want to contribute to a negotiated settlement. But neither the American people nor the Pentagon likes the situation in which we now find ourselves.

The situation in Bosnia is complicated by the fact that air strikes are very tenuous and very difficult due to that country's terrain and weather. My further concern is what happens next. What if our air power does not work in stopping Serb aggression? Are we going to introduce ground troops into that conflict? The American people are opposed to that. Yet, the President has indicated that even if a peace is achieved in Bosnia, he will send troops on the ground to enforce the peace.

I am a strict adherent to the Powell rule, so named for former Joint Chiefs of Staff Chairman Colin Powell. It says that before the United States commits its military to a fight, we must have public support. We must have Congressional involvement. We must have a clear objective and know what our target is.

If we are going to use a stick, it must be a big one. And, finally, we must have a plan for exiting the fight. In the matter of Bosnia, the Powell rule has been ignored.

GE Plastics celebrates Earth Day programs

Environmental education and stewardship are the goals of this year's Earth Day celebration at the GE Plastics facility in the Port Bienville Industrial Park April 22.

GE Plastics team members spearheaded several Earth Day activities, including:

—A 20-foot live oak tree will be planted at the walking track at the Hancock Medical Center in cooperation with the Beautification Committee of Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The tree will commemorate Earth Day and recognize the people of the GE Plastics facility, a joint venture with Huntsman Chemical Company.

—To prevent highway litter, car litter bags will be distributed to people throughout Hancock County through the Summer Reading Program at the Hancock County Library, Chamber of Commerce and the Hancock County Welcome Center.

—The Wildlife Rehabilitation and Nature Preservation Society presents a special program to first grade students.

Gulfview Elementary School, the GE Plastics Employee and Environmental Center April 29. The presentation will show children what to do if they discover a wounded animal in the wild.

—An environmental protection training module has been developed, featuring the Dr. Seuss character "The Lorax." Team members will present the training material to all third grade classes throughout the next few months.

The kickoff was at the neighboring Charles B. Murphy Elementary School in Pearlinton on Earth Day.

GE Plastics team members held an on-site fund-raiser to raise money for these activities.

Steve Grover, plant manager, says, "Both GE Plastics and Huntsman Chemical Company have a strong commitment to environmental stewardship. Earth Day is an opportunity for us to share our commitment with members of the community."

Story hour titles told

"Mother's Day" will be the theme for this week's children's story hour Wednesday, May 4 at 10:30 a.m. at the City-County Public Library's temporary location, 306 Hwy. 90, Bay St. Louis, next to Mississippi Power Company.

On Mother's Lap and Little Chicks' Mothers and all the Others are books to be read. Children will also see a movie, "Bugs Bunny's Mother's Day Special," and receive a color sheet and refreshments.

"Mommy Helpers" is the theme at the Waveland Library Friday, May 6 at 10:30 a.m.

Baby's House, Katie Can and I Like to Help Mommy are books to be featured. Children will receive a color sheet and make Mother's Day cards. Refreshments will be served.

Weekly story hours are held September through May. Programs last approximately one hour.

Programs and activities are designed for pre-school-age children three to five years old who are not part of a nursery or pre-school group.

For individual branch story information, contact Janice Parrott, City-County Public Library, 467-5282; Evelyn Nicaise, Waveland Library, 467-9240; or Sandra Ladner, Kiln Library, 255-1724.

Accepting ROTC honor

Ole Miss student John Baxter of New Orleans, La., accepted a plaque for his great uncle, Hermann M. Baxter, during the annual Chancellor's Review of the Reserve Officers' Training Corps (ROTC). Baxter, a 1942 graduate of Ole Miss, was killed in action during World War II and recently inducted into the ROTC Hall of Fame at The University of Mississippi for his outstanding service. Chancellor R. Gerald Turner presented the plaque. J. C. Baxter (not pictured) of Bay St. Louis, also a World War II veteran, is the brother of the late Hermann M. Baxter.

For our future and the future of our rapidly growing city, I would like to urge you to join me in supporting Mr. Jack Toomey for Mayor of Waveland.

Martin Marietta grant to fund business center

Martin Marietta Services Group has given a $5,000 grant to the University of Southern Mississippi to help small and new businesses in the region. The money will allow the University's Small Business Development Center (SBDC) to open an office at the Stennis Space Center.

The office, to be staffed by graduate students from the University's business program, will assist new and small companies in the area with market research and management techniques to help ensure their success.

"Our objective is to help reduce the normally high failure rate among new and existing small businesses," says Lucy Betcher, director of the SBDC.

"Many of these businesses are run by people with a lot of energy and an excellent idea, but who lack formal business skills or the resources to conduct market research."

The office will provide one-on-one counseling for interested business people, and will hold seminars on selected subjects for group of business people.

Likely topics include Marketing for High Profits, Small Business Taxes, The Successful Business Plan, and Finding Money for Your Small Business.

The Martin Marietta grant is part of the community outreach effort recently announced at the opening of the company's new office in Bay St. Louis.

Support for local small businesses is a central focus for the new facility, with officials available on a scheduled basis to meet with local business leaders to discuss possible partnership or vendor relationships.

Connections with all elements of Martin Marietta, a $9.5 billion, Fortune 50 company, will be possible through the office.

In addition, the company will provide assistance in the transfer of technology stemming from government research and development.

Leveraging the efforts of the corporation's Manned Space Systems division in nearby Michoud, La., the company will conduct seminars on technology transfer opportunities and procedures, as well as help process requests for technology transfer.

Since 1989, more than 200 seminars have been conducted in Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, Arkansas, Texas and Tennessee, and more than 235 technology transfer requests have been processed through the Manned Space Systems office.

Seven major application engineering projects have resulted, with at least three new commercial product lines.

"A strong local business community helps us be successful, and provides a superior living and working environment for our employees," says Dr. Mike Murphy, Martin Marietta's general manager for the Stennis Test and Technical Services contract.

"Besides supporting higher education, this grant should have a direct and positive impact on local businesses."

Martin Marietta Services Group is one of seven operating groups of the Martin Marietta Corporation.

Headquartered in Cherry Hill, N.J., Services Group has 40 years of experience providing technical and management services for government agencies around the world.

Services Group has approximately 9,000 employees working on more than 100 contracts at more than 90 sites worldwide. Nearby Manned Space Systems, has 2,600 employees.

Martin Marietta Corporation is an aerospace and information technology company engaged in the design, manufacture, integration, operation and maintenance of systems and products in the fields of space, defense, electronics, communications, information management, energy and materials.

The corporation employs approximately 93,000 men and women at operations in 37 states, the District of Columbia and around the world.

Civilian firearms safety course held in Harrison

A civilian firearms safety course was held recently at the Harrison County Adult Detention Center in Gulfport, sponsored by Harrison County Sheriff Joe Price.

Chief instructor was Sgt. Eddie Stone, assisted by Capt. Donald Keith and Deputies Bill Calvert, Alan Green and Van McClendon. Food service was provided by Capt. Bruce Carver.

The four-night course consisted of classroom instruction on the proper use and handling of firearms and using the firing range at the Gulfport Police Department range facility.

The class consisted of 22 women, including Hancock County residents Deborah K. Williams, Bay-Waveland Air Conditioning and Heating, and Mary Daggett of Mary's Eatery.

For information on dates for the next class, contact Sgt. Eddie Stone, Harrison County Sheriff's Department, at 865-4595.

Exchange Club's annual auction set May 6

Special to the Echo.
Set May 6 aside on your calendar and make plans to attend The Hancock County Exchange Club's 5th annual Fun Rais'n Auction at the Hancock County Civic Center on Longfellow Road in Waveland.

According to Barbie Haas, auction committee chairman, this year's auction promises to be bigger and better than ever as the Hancock County Club is joining forces with the Gulfport Exchange Club for an even bigger success than last year's auction.

There will be a silent and a live auction. Previewing will begin at 6 p.m. with the auction beginning at 7. Food and beverages will be available.

This year's goal has been set at $15,000 for the Hancock County Club. Auction proceeds help support the Exchange Club's Family Child Center for the Prevention of Child Abuse, in addition to supporting its other efforts and ongoing programs in the prevention of child abuse.

Haas said it's not too late to donate items for the club's second major fund-raiser of the year. New or used items such as artwork, antiques, celebrity items or certificates for services are among the items still being sought. All donations are tax deductible.

The auction is a great opportunity for businesses and artists to gain exposure while joining a community effort in the fight against child abuse.

Many of the items already collected for the auction are on display at The Peoples Bank in Bay St. Louis. Those who wish to donate items can also stop by the bank.

A few of the items to be auctioned include artwork by Nadine Stamm, Ruth Thompson and Zita Waller, along with other items, such as antiques, gem stones, condominiums stays and dinner at the Blue Rose and Bay Town Inn.

The Hancock County Exchange Club, founded nationally in 1911, is an organization of men and women who have joined together to voluntarily serve their community in a wide range of humanitarian and patriotic activities. Americanism, youth and community service programs, including sponsoring a youth of the month, are its principal areas of involvement.

For more information contact auction chairman Barbie Haas, Hancock County Exchange Club, at 467-6576 or Lisa Wesson, Gulfport Exchange Club, at 897-9163.

Miss. Coast Crime Commission's appreciation breakfast is May 4

The Mississippi Coast Crime Commission announced their 12th annual Law Enforcement Appreciation Breakfast and Fund Raiser is May 4 at the Broadwater Beach Resort Hotel from 7:30 to 9:30 a.m.

Executive Director Bob Waterbury said the commission is most fortunate to have Larry Potts, assistant director in charge of the Criminal Investigative Division at the Federal Bureau of Investigation in Washington, D.C.

Potts is responsible for the direction and support of all the the FBI's criminal investigation.

In addition, Attorney General Mike Moore and U.S. Attorney George Phillips are expected to participate in the program.

Since 1982, the MCCC has shown appreciation and paid tribute to all law enforcement and safety personnel in Jackson, Hancock and Harrison counties at its annual breakfast, which is the only one of its kind in Mississippi.

The breakfast is an opportunity for those on the Gulf Coast who wish to hear these distinguished speakers and show their appreciation for the efforts of all those in law enforcement to attend the complete buffet-style breakfast.

For ticket or breakfast information, call the Mississippi Coast Crime Commission at 864-9885.

Outstanding achievement

Glade Woods, acting director of NASA's Project and Technology Applications Directorate at Stennis Space Center, accepted the U.S. Space Foundation's "Recognition Award for Outstanding Achievement" earlier this month for SSC's development of digital image processing for medical applications. The technology was inducted into the U.S. Space Foundation's Space Technology Hall of Fame.

Area lawyers visit classrooms

What do Hancock County lawyers and students at Bay Senior High School and Hancock County School for Success have in common?

They will be participating in "A Lawyer in Every Mississippi Classroom" Program during Law Week, May 1-7. Over 300 lawyers will "fan out" across the state during the week to visit local elementary, middle and high schools. These attorneys will participate in classroom activities which focus on the continuing importance of the rule of law in America.

Area lawyers participating include: Henry Cook III, Elise Epperson Sims and Ann Arras Williamson.

This special program is sponsored by The Mississippi Bar Young Lawyers Division and coordinated by the Mississippi Law-Related Education Center. The program has offered to place a lawyer in every Mississippi classroom which so desires. Once in the classroom, these volunteer lawyers will serve as teachers and discussion facilitators and will encourage students to think about how our system of justice affects their daily lives.

"So often, students today think of the term 'Bill of Rights' as some vague legal principle with little or no significance to them," stated Scott Phillips of the Young Lawyers Division Law Week Committee. "This program is unique in that attorneys statewide have volunteered their time to show students, by example, how The Bill of Rights were designed to protect the rights and liberties of every citizen and how these protections extend to their daily lives."

Kelly Cannon moves to new office

The same great service Kelly Cannon, State Farm Insurance, gave their policyholders at 700 Hwy 90, Waveland, can now be found at their new location, 137 Hwy 90, Waveland. The new office will be open and ready for business on Monday, May 2. Staffed with the same friendly faces you've come to know and rely on, Julie Cannon, bookkeeper; Linda Aime, office manager and Denise Walton, account representative, the hours of business are 8:30-5:00 Monday through Friday and Saturday from 9:00-12:00. Kelly Cannon State Farm Insurance even offers an after hours claims emergency number for 24 hour service to their policyholders.

When Kelly and his wife, Julie, first moved to the Coast in 1989 to open his State Farm Insurance office, they immediately felt at home and became very active in several community organizations. Kelly is currently a member of The Exchange Club, on the Board of Directors for The Chamber of Commerce, on the vestry for Christ Episcopal Church, a member of the Waveland Civic Association and on the Tourism and Economic Development Committee. Even though Kelly Cannon's schedule is a busy one, he finds time to enjoy fishing, hunting and play T-ball as well as soccer with his three children. "Our family is glad to call the Gulf Coast our home and I look forward to serving the residents of Hancock and Harrison counties for all their insurance needs."

So whether it's life, health, auto, fire, flood, boat or commercial insurance you need, contact the office of Kelly Cannon State Farm Insurance at 467-2323.
